

WEATHER STATEMENT

* PAVEMENT ICING ISSUES UNLIKELY TODAY, GREATER POST-STORM REFREEZE CONCERN *

Temps are currently in the mid-upper 30s. They will cool a couple more degrees into the afternoon, eventually reaching 32 - 35 by sunset (from NW to SE). That could lead to a few instances of patchy ice on colder / elevated surfaces, while pavements likely hold wet across the board (being warmer after a night in the 50s, and with the help of the daytime sun angle). The patchy ice risk increases slightly after sunset, as the last of the mixed showers exit. Post-storm through the evening (especially after 7 or 8PM), the icing risk is greatest and we'll see a higher-than-normal refreeze of remaining wet areas if untreated, especially near puddles / runoff. The breeze should help with some, but limited drying. Just a flurry could return after Midnight as temps continue to cool through the 20s.

HAZARDS

Hazard	Threat	Description
Snow	Minimal	Just a bit of sleet may mix in as precip tapers around sunset... Flurries and a stray snow shower can return after Midnight.
Ice	Moderate	Surfaces expected to remain wet through the daytime. Few spots could reach 32, but any patchy ice would just be elevated / colder surfaces with warmer grounds... Greater concern post-storm from refreeze.
Flooding	Low	Heaviest rain has ended, just some lingering poor drainage issues.
Extreme Cold	Moderate	Post-event wind chills tonight drop into the single digits. Tomorrow night winds calm, but air temps alone hit 5 - 10 above.

FORECAST

Friday	Cloudy. Ongoing plain rain may mix with a few pockets of freezing rain later in the afternoon. Precip turns more showery late, as it ends may mix with a few sleet pellets 5 - 7PM. 20% chance for a Scattered Coating of Sleet   30% chance for Patchy Ice (Just colder / elevated surfaces, if any) Temps currently 35 - 39, cool 32 - 34 through the afternoon   N winds 10 - 15 mph, gusts 20
Fri Night	Any lingering light mix ends early, then partly to mostly cloudy and a bit breezy. A few flurries or snow shower may return after Midnight. 20% chance for a Scattered Coating of Snow Increased icing concern from wet areas / runoff as temps cool through the evening Low 19 - 23 (Wind chills near 10)   N winds shift NW 8 - 18 mph, gusts 25 mph late
Saturday	Partly sunny with a few passing flurries. Breezy and much colder. High 27 - 31   NW wind 10 - 20 mph, gusts 25 - 30 mph
Sat Night	Mainly clear skies. A frigid night, but winds calm. Low 5 - 10 (Wind chill similar)
Sunday	Abundant sun to start, with still more sun than clouds late. High 32 - 36

Forecaster: Rob Reale

Next Update: If Necessary